Old Business:

- A. 2019 LEPC Activity Status Board was reviewed.

New Business:

- A. Air Methods, Gregg Hardy provided an overview of the company's new Patient Advocates. The program consists of emergency transport care to patients by fix-wing or helicopter to a hospital. The entire process is made easier due to the company's patient advocates doing all the paperwork with patient's insurance companies. They have been successful in reducing the cost of emergency transport for patients that has relieved the patient and families of large costs related to emergency transport.
- B. Young Eagles Program, Jim Jackson a Board member of the local Young Eagles Chapter presented the opportunities available in the EAA Young Eagles program. Since the program started it gives interested young people ages 8 to 17 the opportunity to go flying in an airplane. Local aviation volunteers provide their time and aircraft to make the flight possible. A free EAA student membership will be presented after the flight to provide access to various flight related opportunities.
